Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1, 3, 5, 8-11, 13, 15, and 18-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Hasegawa et al (U.S. 2002/0191348). Hasegawa discloses (figure 1) a magnetic head, comprising: upper and lower antiparallel (AP) pinned layer structures (22,26) each having at least two pinned layers (51,53) having magnetic moments that are self-pinned antiparallel to each other; and a free layer structure (24) spaced apart from and between the AP pinned layer structures, the free layer structure comprising: a first free layer (54) having a magnetic moment; a second free layer (56) having a magnetic moment pinned antiparallel to the magnetic moment of the first free layer, and a third free layer having a magnetic moment pinned antiparallel to the magnetic moment of the second free layer. All three layers of the free layer may have a thickness of less than 100 Angstroms (see paragraph 0110). Hard bias layers (31) are adjacent opposite ends of the free layer structure. A nonmagnetic Cu spacer layer (23) is formed between the pinned and free layer structures.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 2, 4, 6, 7, 12, 14, 16, and 17 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
